PRESS RELEASE

Coaches express optimism as CAZOVA Under-23 Championships awaits

MALONEY, TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, JULY 9, 2025: Less than 24 hours before the Caribbean Zonal Volleyball Association (CAZOVA) Men and Women Under-23 Championships hosted by the T&T Volleyball Federation (T&TVF) serves off at the Maloney Indoor Sports Arena from Thursday, July 10 until Sunday, July 13, the eight coaches of the respective participating teams all expressed optimism about their team's chances.

The tournament the first to be held since 2018, and for the first time involving both genders after the women's events was staged alone and won by Suriname will see the next generation of CAZOVA senior teams talent converge over the next four days with the intention of signaling their names to the region and the world by extension as well as leading their respective teams to regional glory.

Cuban-born Carlos Orta, Head Coach of Suriname men, "I have been coaching in Suriname for the past three years as part of the FIVB agreement.

"This is the first time we are going to have the men's competition in the Under-23 CAZOVA Championship and with it being the first time we don't know the opposing teams that well.

"We know that Trinidad and Tobago always has a good team, but we don't know the rest, but we now have a chance to show who is the best."

Essiel Seecharan, Head Coach of Trinidad and Tobago men, "We are very much prepared for this competition. We have been training for the past three months, and we only have a few slight injuries, but nothing that should affect the outcome for us which is to get the gold medal."

Brice Hardy-Dessources, Head Coach of Martinique men, "We came to Trinidad and Tobago to win this competition. This team had three weeks of preparation, and we are okay for this competition."

Gayetann Broussillon, Head Coach of Guadeloupe men, "We have come here with a beautiful team to win and the objective here in this tournament is to win against every team
